BUNINYONG-Mt HELEN LIONS CLUB Inc.

P.O.Box 254, Buninyong, 3357.

Volunteer Abroad.

Lion David Searl has just left our shores to take on volunteer work in India.

David has joined a number of volunteers with the Ryder-Cheshire organisation as a teacher's aide in a school in Dehradun, a city of about 500,000 people, 300 kms north of Dehli. He will be working there for 3 months and takes with him all the good wishes of our Lions Club.

Whilst in India, David will be visiting some of the eight Lions Clubs in Dehradun and will bring back with him some wonderful experiences which he will share with us.

Thanks.

Recently, members of the Lions Club had a get-together at the home of Lions David and Karen Page to thank some of our members who have left us over the past year or so.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to Max and Val Cartledge, Neville Wilson, John Howard, Myrna Dwyer and Michael Richardson. Certificates will also be presented to Arnoud and Mary Goossens who were unable to attend the night.

Our sincere thanks go to all those ex members for the time and effort they put unto our Club and Lions in general during their term with us.

BBQ.

On Grand Final day the Lions manned a BBQ outside the Foodworks Supermarket on behalf of the Bendigo Bank. This is an annual event and, although it was very cold in the town, all who partook were very grateful for some warm food. Our Club thanks the Bendigo Bank for all their support to us and the town in general.

Scrap Metal - The Lions Club will pick up your old, unwanted scrap metal. This is sorted and sold, and all funds go back into our Community.

For pick-up please call Bill Jolly on 5341 2068, or Russell Williams on 5341 3452.

Newspapers - We collect and sell old Newspapers, Glossy Magazines, Junk Mail etc., and again, all funds go back into worthy causes.

It would be appreciated if papers could be laid flat and tied into bundles. They can be collected by us, or you can leave them in the green bin outside our shed in Forest Street (next door to the Tennis Club).

For pick-up please contact Bill Jolly on 5341 2068.

Personal Power for Personal Pain

“So you believe there’s something else after all this is over?” “Mark” asked me. Having suddenly lost one of his key mentors some months ago, he was talking with me about his struggles with the grief that kept resurging.

“Oh yes,” I replied, “but not only after it’s over. Right here as well. Otherwise we couldn’t tap into God’s comfort or healing power when we most need it.”

We will talk again, for no single conversation can ever address all those questions.

I meet lots of “Marks,” who are very successful and fair-minded, but they see faith at a distance - in religious terms that often makes them feel disqualified.

Some have the energy or the intellectual smarts to support their own belief systems. Yet no belief system or religion can fully address the hurt that accompanies natural disasters or human malice, without trivialising the pain or the person who suffers from it.

Jesus describes heaven more often in everyday events – like work tensions, corrupt judiciaries, mugging victims, family fights and moneylending - than in heavy judgemental terms; to show how God is here for us when things go right and when things go wrong.

He invites us to open a relationship with him that is a perfect personal fit, without locking it away on some private, antiseptic piety trip. For knowing him will energise our greatest personal hopes and dreams, and simultaneously motivate us to spread his grace and respect to people around us who need extra care and encouragement.

Snail Tales and Snail Dangers

We have all noticed the thick slimy trails left on paths by snails. After a decade of drought, the snail population has exploded. What has frustrated me is the damage they do by eating plants. As a keen collector of xEpicactus hybrids, with their huge range and diversity of flowers both in colour, size, and shape the flat leaves are quickly decimated by snails. But succulents and even spiny desert cacti are not safe. At least they leave bromeliads alone perhaps sheltering between the rosettes. As a beginner I had success growing cacti seed in sealed plastic bags but an experienced grower called and advised me to get them out of the bags. His advice was followed but shortly after a snail created havoc with the tiny seedlings. Always accept advice but never follow any advice blindly. Many of us have been annoyed by resident snails attacking and eating our letters in our letter boxes.

Whilst I know snails can't jump, but I am still intrigued how they patiently climb up walls and find their way into hanging baskets many feet above the ground. I have a friend who is a strong advocate for the use of coffee to deter or kill snails but I am not convinced. Coffee has been used successfully in South American to stop the breeding of mosquitoes in bromeliads and one of our members has had success using coffee in his potting mix for root mealy bug.

The main reason for giving space to snails is the recent sinister news that snails have caused deaths with children. The following gleanings are from a fact sheet from the Health Department. Apparently snails eat or have contact with rat faeces and can transport a fatal swelling of the brain a meningitis type disease. Rat Lung Worm Disease (Angiostrongylus cationensis) Rat Lung Worm is a parasite that mainly lives in rats. It is not a notifiable disease and most people make a full recovery. Rat lung worm is a parasite that mainly lives in rodents such as rats and can infect snails and slugs that come into contact with infected rat faeces. The time between eating the slug or snail and getting sick is usually 1-3 weeks. People infected with rat lung worm do not pass the infection on to others. Be aware eating unwashed fresh vegetables and lettuces. Most people recover fully without treatment over days, weeks, or months. However the infection is occasionally fatal. There is no vaccine and no preventative treatment is recommended for exposed people. Supervise infants and young children in environments where they may find snails and slugs. Don't eat raw snails or vegetables infected with their slime. Noel Main Ballarat Cactus & Succulent Society.

Seed collecting workshops

As part of a Communities for Nature grant called the 'Back from the Brink Project', LCG and two of the Landcare Groups are holding a Seed workshop provided by Seeding Victoria.

Held in two halves on Saturday 20th October and Wednesday 7th November we will be looking at all aspects of seed collection particularly for the four focal species of this Project: Silver banksia, Black Sheoak, Yarra Gum and Snow Gum. We have detailed information of where to find these disappearing species and by collecting a little of the seed and growing it on we will be adding these species back into landcare planting for the next three years at least. Your help is needed.

If you would like to be on the list for these free workshops please contact Jenny Ryle at the Buninyong office 0353412364. (Upper Williamson Creek and Napoleons Landcare groups have preference as they are partnering LCG in this project) . The propagating workshop will be held in March next year.

FRIENDS OF THE BUNINYONG BOTANIC GARDENS

Report on activities:

Following the excellent outcome with the stone wall entrances to the Gong, we turned our mind to getting some interpretive signage installed both in the gardens and the Gong. Just two in each case.

These had to comply in style with the Ballarat City's mandated guidelines but I think you will agree that they are reasonably unobtrusive.

We have also had discussions with the City officers about tree planting. Regular visitors to the garden will have noticed that a number of advanced trees were planted in the upper reaches of the Gong reserve and also in the formal gardens this winter.

Many of you joined us for the Winter Luncheon in the Buninyong Town Hall where writer Anne Latrielle treated us to a very engaging talk on Dr Joachim Carallo and the Villandry Gardens. We adopted a French theme which included a smattering of berets and an even thinner smattering of the French language. We think we will make the luncheon an annual event.

We are particularly pleased that through the efforts of Committee members, Richard Patterson, and Chris Hindhaugh we have continued an involvement with the Buninyong Primary School. You will recall all those delightful wheel barrows at the opening. This year it is planter boxes.

Projects which we hope to address in the future are the replacement of the bitumen paving in the Queen Victoria Rotunda and the planting of a climber to part cover some of the concrete wall in the old baths courtyard. And, sooner rather than later the pines along the Scott Street Gong frontage will have to be replaced. More recently we have been involved in discussions with City engineers about the overflow from the Gong.

Council Indecision and Concern for Young Families Prompts PE Teacher Joshua Morris to Stand for Ballarat City Council.

Joshua Morris is a man on a mission. Young, driven and visionary, the PE teacher and father of three is standing for election to Ballarat City Council with two key goals in mind: improve services and facilities for young families; and bring an end to the prevailing culture of indecisiveness at Council that he believes is costing the community “Hundreds of thousands, possibly millions of dollars”, each year.

“I believe the indecision of this Council and its administration, and its failure to push ahead with key projects, has cost the community dearly. Unfortunately, because of lack of transparency in much that Council does, the amount of money that has been wasted on consultants and their reports, may never be known”, Mr Morris said.

“If Council commissions a report from experts, it should take that report under advisement and it should make a decision. The residents of Ballarat want informed and considered decisions made; they want things to keep moving forward. The Civic Hall is a classic example.

“I am also deeply concerned about the failure of the Council and of its senior officers to see through the delivery of its vision and its key plans. I think a large part of the blame lies with Council management for failing to follow through.

“Council just seems to have an inability to make hard decisions. If elected I know I have the energy to take on these challenges, the strength to make hard decisions and the courage to stand up to highly paid senior council officers.

“I am also determined to fight excessive rate increases, make council financially accountable, ensure financial transparency, cut bureaucracy and most importantly, return the Council’s focus to the efficient delivery of basic services”.

A devoted family man with three children under four, Joshua Morris strongly believes that Council needs to do more to support young families.

“Families are the future of this city. I love Ballarat, I was born and educated here, it’s a great place and I want the same opportunities for my children that I had. We need to continue to look to the future and Council needs to drive that”, Mr Morris said.

“Personal experience has shown my wife and I the huge difficulties that young families face trying to find places for their children at 3 year old kinder. Vacancies are rare and waiting lists are long; as an educator and a parent I’m deeply concerned that without proper planning the situation for families will be even worse in a few years, particularly with Council’s continued push for growth. Growth is fine as long as the necessary infrastructure and services to support that growth are planned for and delivered”.

Mr Morris is critical of recent changes to Council’s delivery of maternal and child health services with the new system meaning multiple visits might be necessary, making it more difficult for many busy families.

If elected, Mr Morris says he will push to ensure all of the city’s playgrounds are safe and clean, and easily accessible for families.

“As a physical education teacher and CPR trainer I know how important it is that children are taught to swim; if I am elected I will press for Council to take another good look at the feasibility of an indoor 50 metre swimming pool”.

Joshua Morris is standing as a candidate in the South Ward. He brings energy, enthusiasm and vision.

Celebrating 150 years in the ground and 50 consecutive vintages.

With such an enduring heritage, it's appropriate that Hill of Grace, arguably Australia's most desirable red wine, be honoured slowly. This icon of the Barossa Valley and Australia's wine industry will be celebrated at a lunch in typical slow food style on Sunday 21 October.

2012 marks the 50th consecutive vintage of Hill of Grace from vines planted in the 1860's and made by the Henschke family since the 1890's.

Ballarat resident and slow food enthusiast, Garry Mann is a descendent of the original Prussian Lutheran settlers of South Australia. Garry will be helping with the lunch and relating tales of the Henschke family and their world famous wines. His grandparents' family were neighbours of the Henschkes and attended the Hill of Grace church.

"It's a remarkable achievement to be celebrating and one that lends itself to a family day in a beautiful rural setting", Mr Mann said. "Back in the late 1800's, the grand-daughter of the man who planted the vines marries the man whose father had bought the vines, and their family remains the custodian of those Grandfather vines today", he added.

The slow lunch and tasting of Hill of Grace is open to the public at the Garibaldi Hall on Sunday 21 October. Bookings are essential via Jen on 5333 4178.

BUNINYONG GETS BEHIND CHFL FLAG PURSUIT

The Buninyong Golf Club tied red and black streamers and balloons to the balcony facing Learmonth Street to show their support for the Buninyong Football Club's premiership matches on 15th September. The Ballarat Courier on 12th September page 7 had a large photograph of a very happy Golf Club manager, Darren Cribbes, next to some black and red balloons. Despite the encouragement from the townsfolk Buninyong seniors lost to Daylesford in their first grand final since 2003, but the Buninyong reserves defeated Waubra to take home a very welcome flag.

LAWN BOWLING SEASON WARMS UP

The Ballarat Courier Sports pages on October 1, page 38 featured the Ballarat District Bowls Division's official launch on 30th September of the 2012-2013 competition. Mt Helen's Barb Glover was pictured in action rolling a bowl along the green in readiness for the new season. Barb and Peter Glover, both longtime supporters of the Newsletter, play for the Buninyong Bowling Club.

NAZARETH HOUSE CHEF IN THE NEWS

Buninyong resident Leon Lavery was photographed with Sr Telesia from Nazareth House with a platter of healthy nibbles in the Ballarat Courier September 21, 2012 page 19. Leon is a chef at Nazareth House aged care facility which was featured as part of the Victorian Seniors Festival news. Nazareth House is proud of the diverse amenities that their 'home away from home' provides, good cooking being only one of them.

GOOD RESULT FOR DAFFODIL DAY

Thank you to all local citizens who purchased fresh daffodils and merchandise from the Anti-Cancer Daffodil Day stall outside Buninyong Foodworks last month. On a cold blustery day the welcome sum of $507.45 was raised by the volunteers on duty. Thank you to everyone for your generosity.

Helen Stephens, Co-ordinator

How quickly time gets away! I hope you can all claim to have achieved something interesting since the last issuance of our much appreciated Buninyong and District Community News. We "Seniors" continue to meet and enjoy each other's company every Tuesday. Welcome back Lois! A warm welcome also awaits any other senior person who would like to join us.

Last Wednesday, 26/9, we were pleased to have former members Rex and Gwen join us when we stopped for a "cuppa" en route to Mount Lonarch – our destination for this day trip. This Mount Lonarch Gallery, making and painting fine bone china, was considered most interesting and the numerous pieces of finished work were really beautiful. Here we also enjoyed a hot two course midday meal before returning home via a different route. Thank you Vic and Trace!

A three day trip to Phillip Island is also planned for October. Dates 23rd, 24th and 25th. Further details available from Trace or Vic.

A day out, complete with barbeque lunch, is being planned for November. Time, date and place to be advised shortly.

June will conduct another of her Art Classes at club on Tuesday October 16th. We again look forward to this.

October's club competition, 23/10, is for a souvenir from overseas. September's competition, for a small antique, drew an interesting number and variety of entries. Congratulations to the winners!

We regret that our former President is still a long way from well. We hope to hear better news of you soon Alan. Take care! We hope too that improving weather will bring improving health to all with a relevant problem.
